THE ISSUE

The Clery Act aims to prevent campus crime, in part, by making campus policy and crime statistics available to the public. In order to comply with these Clery Act requirements, colleges and universities must understand what the law entails, their responsibilities, and how they can actively foster campus safety. Some faculty and staff have specific duties and responsibility related to maintaining a safe campus, and reporting information they receive about possible crimes. In addition, institutions have a responsibility to fulfill these requirements in a transparent and sensitive manner.

EVERFI SOLUTION

EVERFI's Building Supportive Communities course is a comprehensive education solution that introduces faculty and staff to Title IX and the Clery Act, and prepares them to provide supportive and effective responses when someone may have experienced sexual violence, relationship abuse or violence, or stalking.

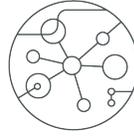

In addition to understanding the legal definitions of sexual harassment, the course gives faculty and staff the opportunity to practice identifying signs that someone may be experiencing abuse or violence, and teaches them how to respond in a supportive manner. This course reflects training requirements outlined in the 2020 Title IX changes.
